

INTRODUCING THE ANE LIVE STREAM TEAM

Many of our ANE District churches are using Live Stream video technology to share their worship services and other events with the wider world. As a result of the pandemic, our congregations have become more aware of the need to offer online worship for those in their church family and community who are unable (or unwilling?) to worship in person with them for Sunday morning worship and for other church related events.

The ANE District would like to offer support to those in our churches who have been assigned the job of handling the technology needed to offer Live Stream worship services. We have now put into place an ANE District Live Stream Team of 4 volunteers who were willing and available to help our congregations with their Live Streaming needs and questions.

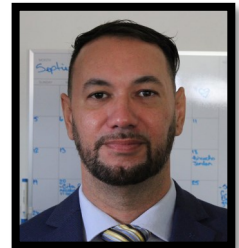

Churches who have a need for help from one of these volunteers may reach out for help by email to videosupport@ane-cob.org. One of these volunteers will be in touch with you to offer support for your needs.

Meet your ANE District Live Stream Team:

Enten Eller serves as the pastor of the Ambler Church of the Brethren, yet was formerly the Director of Electronic Communication and Educational Technology at Bethany Theological Seminary, owns his own computer business (for the past 38 years), and was former district staff for streaming technology. He also pastors the Living Stream Church of the Brethren (the only completely online church in our denomination), and serves as their tech deacon.

David Vasquez is in charge of the Technology and Maintenance Dept. of Iglesia Nuevo Amanecer Church of the Brethren in Bethlehem, Pa. He served as the Video Streaming Specialist for the Atlantic Northeast District COB and is currently employed as an Industrial Maintenance Technician.

Dennis Duett currently runs the live stream at Indian Creek Church of the Brethren in Harleysville, PA. Formerly, Dennis was the Church and Community Group Organizer Intern at On Earth Peace, and has been live streaming & making videos since 2011. Dennis is self-taught in software relative to streaming.

Ed Heidinger's curiosity peaked after a peek in the sound booth one Sunday. This turned into a passion leading him to accept the call of Sound Coordinator in 2018 at Mechanic Grove Church of the Brethren. Ed had a vision and dream of starting a live stream at MGCB, little did he know 2020 had plans of its own. You can always find Ed with a cup of coffee in hand, or trying to find where he left it, and ready for a good conversation.
